Alaska Impact Days 2026

Transforming Alaska's Future Through Collaborative Impact Investing

April 8–9, 2026 | Alaska Native Heritage Center, Anchorage

The Opportunity: Alaska faces unprecedented challenges—climate change, housing shortages, food insecurity, barriers to accessing healthcare and economic instability—that require innovative solutions and an opportunity to expand beyond traditional philanthropy and banking.

A Powerful Coalition: The Alaska Impact Cohort unites Alaska's leading foundations—Alaska Conservation Foundation, Mat-Su Health Foundation, Alaska Community Foundation, and Rasmussen Foundation—in partnerships with regenerative economy leader Spruce Root, to leverage collective resources for unprecedented community impact. With mentorship by the Impact Finance Center in this long-term and growing collaboration, we aim to complement the work of Alaska's critical lenders, accelerator programs, and incubators already improving the quality of our economy, region by region.

Capital That Builds Communities: Alaska's current investment landscape is limited: capital is often inaccessible to frontline communities because of structural barriers, lack of intermediaries, terms that favor outside investors, structures that result in profits leaving the state, and historic underinvestment. The Cohort is working to unlock the untapped potential of private wealth from both within Alaska and from mission-aligned investors nationwide, including the financial assets of foundations, investor groups, and individuals. We envision an Alaska where investment strengthens rather than extracts from local economies.

Our Approach Creates:

- Equitable access to capital for underserved communities
- Investment tools prioritizing community resilience—recoverable grants, revolving loans, CDFI investments
- Partnerships attracting responsible investment while maintaining community agency

Alaska Impact Days April 8–9, 2026: A Catalyst for Change. Anchorage, Alaska

ILLUMINATE Alaska's capital gaps and investment opportunities

ELEVATE community-led, investment-ready initiatives

MOBILIZE new investments in sustainable and equitable local economies

CONNECT stakeholders to scale solutions

JOIN US for impact that ensures Alaska's future is defined by opportunity, not crisis
